FAST DRIVING.—George Stein, George Swartzson and Philip Boyle, the last two named soldiers, were arrested yesterday for driving through the streets at a faster rate than is prescribed by ordinance. Stein was fined $5, and the latter $2 each. PERSONAL - Captain Lewis Wilson, U. S.

A., formerly Chief of Police of this city, arrived here on Saturday evening. He has been ordered to report at Newport Barracks. Captain Wilson was Colonel of the Second Obio Regiment in the three months' campaign.

STEALING A CHICKEN .- A colored individual named Jeremiah Hall pleaded guilty, in the Police Court, this morning, to the charge of stealing a chicken from a grocery store at the corner of New and Sycamore-streets. Accused stated that he saw the chicken hanging outside the store, looking very tempting, and he could not resist the desire to take it. The Court entertained very serious doubts as to whether a nigger should be punished for stealing chickens. It is just as natural for them to do it as it is for them to eat an opossum when they catch one. Hall was sen-terced to two months' confinement in the County Jail, at the end of which time he will have an opportunity to try his hand on "spring chickens."

Police Count.-There were twenty-five new cases on the docket this morning. Edward Casey and Peter Hagan, charged with disorderly conduct, were sent to the City Prison for a brief term.

George Freelick and Wm. Albring, for the same offense, were fined, the former $5 and the latter $3.

Fritz Hampelman was fined $6 and costs for disorderly conduct.

James Pendergrass and Margaret McDonald, charged with vagrancy, were sent to the City Prison, the former for twenty and the latter for ten days.

Joseph Sanberger, for violating a market ordinance, was fined $2. Christopher Berkley, Henry Brown and Wm. Johnson, were fined $2 each for being lisorderly.

COUNTY MATTERS .- The following claims ere allowed by the Board of Commissions rs this morning:

Pay-roll for new jail for week ending Feb-ruary 8, $23. J. C. Baum, postage-stamps for County Auditor, $12. Richard Allen was released from the County Jail, being unable to pay his fine and costs. On Satur-day afternoon a bill presented by Robert Clarke & Co. for fifteen hundred copies of the Annual Reports of the County Commis-sioners was referred back to said Clarke & Co for correction, inasmuch as there were only one thousand copies ordered. The bill of S. G. Sterling of $325 for lumber for re-pairing bridge on Clifton and Cumminsville Road was signed for payment; also the bill of Thomas Conway, of $7, for labor on Sharpsburg Road.

The Auditor was authorized to notify and request the County Commissioners of Clermont County to meet the Board of Hamilton County on the 17th inst., at twelve o'clock M., at the Court-house, Cincinnati.

GREAT HAUL OF BOGUS COIN-Arrest of Counterfeiters, - Yesterday afternoon Lieu-tenant E. T. Harmon, of the Hammond-street tenant E. T. Harmon, of the Hammond street Station-house, assisted by Marshal Bennett, of Newport, and Officer Flannery, of this city, made a descent upon the house No. 174 West Court-street, between Rittenhouse and Lypn, and arrested the occupants of the building—James Mason and Cordelia Wilson. These parties are expert counterfeiters. The former has served one term in the Ohio State Penitentiary on the charge of manu-facturing and passing bogus coin, and the latter is well known to the police of Cincinnati as one of the shrewdest women in the same business extant. Lieutenant Harmon same business extant. Lieutenant Harmon and Marshal Bennett have suspected forsome time that Mason and his partner had revived their old trade at the above house, and accordingly on yesterday, after making a judicious reconnoissance of the premises, an immediate attack was resolved on.

Lieutenant Harmon advanced boldly to the front door, which he found firmly barricaded. All efforts to break it down by kicks proving fruitless, the party were about to proving fruitless, the party were about to dopt other measures to effect an entrance, when the door was thrown wide open by Mrs. Wilson, and the officers rushed in. A short search revealed the fact that Mason, the commander of the castle, was on the roof. Lieutenant Harmon got up on the top of the building just in time to see Mason throw several bags down a chimney, which were subsequently found to contain bogus silver and gold coin, consisting of three, five and ter-tent pieces, quarter and half dollars, and one, three and five-dollar gold pieces. The bags fell into the fire and a considerable portion of the coin was melted. That which was rescued from the flames by the officers was very well executed, especially the gold pieces, which are well calculated to deceive.

the manufacture of coin were found in the house.

It is supposed that Mason and Mrs. Wilson are confederates of the Johnson family, who were arrested in Newport, by Marshall Bennett, a short time ago, and in whose possession was found a large amount of bogus coin, resembling very much in appearance and execution the peck found yesterday on Court-street. A large box was also found in Mason's house, which was filled with bolts of muslins, delaines, handkerchiefs, towels, and a variety of other small articles, all of which were, no dobut, stolen. The all of which were, no dobut, stolen. The goods are at the office of the Chief of Police, where they can be identified by the proper owners. Mason and Mrs. Wilson were taken in custody and lodged in the Ninthstreet Station-house. They were before Judge Seffin this morning, and not being ready for examination, the case was continued until Wednesday next. Ball fixed at $800 each sale of tickets commenced the excitement became intense; what, with the squealing of hogs and pigs, gobbling of turkeys, crowing of roosters and cackling of bens, rattling of occoanuts, spilling and squashing of oranges and limes, the rolling of pumpkins under foot, together with the Babel-like jargon of the natives, it was a scens of novelty the mest thrilling and terrific mortal ever gazed

A Dark Joke. Politeness is a quality to be commended in whatever station of life it may be exhibited; but sometimes it has led people into embarrassing predicaments, and been the ocession of a good laugh. Some time sincewe will not say how long-a young man of our city, rather noted for his strict observance of the rules of etiquette and the agree-able, was journeying from an Eastern city homeward, and had arrived at Columbus. Here he determined to remain until the next day. Coming out of the car, Smith—that is the usual name given for an incognito, we believe—observed a young lady evidently alone, and somewhat in doubt as to what course she should take. During the trip he had fallen in with several ladies and formed as may be imagined, several pleasant passing acquaintances, and was somewhat persist ent in performing those little courtesies which ladies traveling alone are apt to exact from those of the other sex with whom they are on "speaking terms." Our friend, of course, was ready; but in the particular instance to which we allude, the time was night.

Approaching her, Smith very politely inquired if he could be of service, and as she said he could, he very considerately took charge of her carpet-sack and walked along at her side. The conversation was carried on desultorily, the lady seemingly disinclined to much conversation, which Smith attributed to the shortness of the acquaint-ance and a natural diffidence characteristic of young ladles. In due course of time thay night. of young ladies. In due course of time they neared the hotel, when the charmer remarked that she would probably find one of the por-ters and relieve him (Smith) of the charge. But Smith, true gallant, objected, and was determined to see her and the baggage safe into the well-lighted hall of the hotel. Here, however, be it remembered, Smith had several friends who happened to be standing in the hall when be entered, carpet-sack in hand, and looking as though he had done his whole duty to the sex in general, and that one in particular. The doors were thrown open— the twain stood in the light in full view of the night's passengers—the lady raised her vail and displayed—a countenance dark and lustrous as ebony, finely set off by very white teeth and a pair of eyes which Smith declares resembled a wild cat's at night. Perhaps she smiled—she might have blushed, but the carmine tint was not visible; and Smith-he pulled his hat down over his eyes and disappeared, with the muttered ejaculation-"Porter for a nigger, by ——."

Where our polite hero stopped that night never has been ascertained, but this much has been ascertained-Smith eschews politeness to all vailed females.

DEATH FROM AN OVERDOSE OF MORPHINE .-Yesterday afternoon a young woman named Martha Patterson, better known as Jenny time had frequently used morphine by direction of a physician. Late yesterday afternoon the cramps returned upon her in a violent form, and she sent a young man named Harding to the drug-store, corner of Sixth and Elm streets, for a morphine powder. He procured the powder, and upon returning to the house administered it to her. In a short time afterward the woman died. It has since been ascertained that the powder which she took contained two grains of morphine. Deceased lived at No. 99 Pleasant court, an alley running East from Elm street, between Fourth and Fifth The Coroner was sent for, but had not held an inquest on the body up to eleven o'clock

THE DEAD, - Transplanted to another clime. Gone, shut out from the world for-ever. What a mockery is the remembrance of her light and fairy-like footsteps. How cruelly harsh grates the reality on the sensitiveness of sympathy. And yet her soul has only done that which God has required countless millions since the creation of mor-tality. The dying swan's last notes are its sweetest, the perfumed rose blushes deepest

So is it with mankind. Death ruthlessly claims his victim, and in the last moments are uttered words, that burn in memory even to the end, and are bequeathed from one century to another and the dying mortal's last creation becomes world-lived. THE HOME GUARD DONATION TO THE FUND FOR SICE SOLDIERS — The Home Guard Central Committee met on Saturday afternoon, agreeably to published notice, and or-dered that the unexpended balance of fands in the hands of their Treasurer, Mr. W. W. Scarborough, cashier of the Ohio Valley Bank, be donated to the United States Sanitary Commission, of this city, for the benefit of sick soldiers. Mr. John D. Caldwell, President of the Committee, and N. Bartlett, Secretary, this morning presented the sum of $170 25 to this noble charity. When Fort Sumter was fired on, and fears were entertained for the safety of this city, the mili-tary spirit was evoked at this point by a prompt movement. Now that the effects of the war are felt by the need of hospital comforts for the sick and wounded, the remaining fund of the Home Guard is thus properly bestowed. FUNERAL. - The remains of James S. Mc-Bride, pilot of the gun-boat Essex, will be interred this afternoon. The funeral will take place at the Eighth Presbyterian Church, between Linn and Baymiller-streets. The Association of Pilots and Odd Fellows will join the funeral procession.

No one, we are sure, but a corrupt, demoralized partisan, who has more regard for his party than for his country, would resort to such miserable slang whang as the above, at this time, when men of all parties in the North are making sacrifices to sustain the credit and arms of the country. In the South, where no one claims that the Republican Party is predominant, but where pure and unadulferated Jeff Davis Democracy has entire sway, all the articles above enumerated command double the prices they do in the North. When the history of these times shall have been written by the impartial his torian, it will be seen who is responsible for the present state of affairs. SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS .- A couple of men named Stricker and Daily engaged in a quarnamed Stricker and Daily engaged in a quar-rel on York street, yesterday afternoon, re-specting the qualities of their respective 'dogs.' A gentleman named Austin T. Earle, who was passing at the time, attumpted to separate the belligerents, when he was set upon by a man named Winston, a friend of Stricker and most brailly beaten. In the of Stricker, and most bratally beaten. In his endeavors to escape he fell into an open cellar, cutting his head very severely. We understand the affair will undergo a legal investigation.

COVINGTON NEWS.

SCHOOL BOARD PROCEEDINGS .- A special meeting of this body was held on Saturday evening last, for the purpose of—well, no matter. The following note, read by the President, J. W. Farrell, Esq., will explain

"LEXIBGTON, January 31.

"Mr. John W. Farrell:
"Dran Sin—You will please accept and present the same in an unofficial way to the School Board, for your universal kindness in giving my niece, (an orphan depending upon her own exertions for support,) a situa-tion in the Schools; and as a manifestation of my good feelings, you will please order Mr. John W. Lehman to prepare for the Board, (Clerk of course included,) one of his best oyster suppers, and for me and in my behalf, please have the Board to partake of the same. Yours, truly. "JOHN G. SHROCK."

The members of the Board, together with two or three invited guests, accordingly re-psired to the saloon of Mr. Lehman, about nine o'c'ock on Saturday evening last, where a feast of delicious "bivalves" was served up o which all present did ample justice, and or which the Board desires us, in their behalf, to return thanks to Mr. Shrock.

KENTON COUNTY COURT -This tribunal Commonwealth and Martha McCurdy exilliam A. Greene, charged with bastardy, was called up. This promises to be a long case, and will probably occupy the attention of the Court during the entire session.

GOVERNMENT TRAMS -Twenty-five teams, onsisting of six mules each, left for Lexingon yesterday by way of the turnpike. PERSONAL.—The Hon. John F. Fisk will leave to morrow for Frankfort, to fill his seat in the State Legislature. REMOVAL OF THE FERBY-FLOAT .- Owing to a disagreement among the proprietors of the ferry-boats which have been plying for some years from the foot of Vine street, in Cincinnati, to the foot of Scatt-street, in Covington, has been changed from Vine to Race street.

The new arrangement went into effect Satorday night. Among the other heroic acts to which the bezardons condition of the Burnside fleet gave rise, one in connection with the loss of the City of New Fork especially deserves mention. The second engineer, Mr. Showerman, was the last to leave the vessel. Lashing himself to the rigging, he remained there until all had left. Then mounting the must be cut down the flag, wrapped it around his body, and returning to the deck and there on shore, bore it as a triumphant trophy of his daring heroism. meant either to die in its folds or bring i

His salary is $50,000 a year, besides an annual allowance of $5,000 for warming and lighting the Embassy, and a liberal al lowance for plate, servants, and other extras.

QUININE CONTRABAND .- The Government, t is stated, has issued an order prohibiting be exportation of quinine and opium to Cuba for the future. It seems that immense quantities have been recently sent from New York to Havana, the real destination of which is the Southern States.

A veny singular scene was presented to many eyes a few days since in Hellam Township, York County, and no doubt elsewhere. One morning the fallen snow was literally covered with small black ants, crawling and kicking with as much animation as do insects in midsummer.

New York, February 10.—Letters received by last mail from England, by Senators in Weshington, from Messre Bright and Cob-den, the Duke of Argyle and other members of the Liberal party, state that unless some-thing is done to demonstrate the ability of the Government to put down the rebellion and convince the Anti slavery party in England that we are in earnest about emancipation, the sympathy of the Liberal element will be lost and the Southern Confederacy recognized. [Special to New York Tribune, 1 Washington, February 9.—Senator Mor-rill has prepared a bill for the immediate emancipation of all slaves in the District of Columbia, and providing for a compensation not to exceed $300 a head to loyal owners. It has not yet been acted upon in committee. There are about three thousand slaves in the

To correct a misapprehension about the interest paying clause in the legal tender bill, Mr. Rice, of Mass., desired an ameadment, that the certificates of deposit might be funded in five years' seven per cent. bonds, with some annual interest, payable in coin.

Mr. Stevens consented to the funding, but objected to the words "in coin."

Mr. Spalding, with his own pen, struck out the words from the amendment. A fair copy was made, but "in coin" was reinstated copy was made, but in coin was reinstated by the copyist—whoever be was. The amendment was presented and adopted, the friends of the bill being unaware that the words "in coin" were in it.
